

Lintech Components Becomes a New Member of the Aerospace Industries Association

Lintech Components has recently joined as an Associate Member to the Aerospace Industries Association (AIA), proving their commitment of working together with other suppliers and the country's major aerospace companies on the most pressing issues facing the aerospace and defense industry.

AIA's strong representation and advocacy is essential to protecting the business interests of the nation's aerospace and defense industry and helping to establish new opportunities. The government frequently seeks advice from AIA on issues, and AIA provides a forum for government and industry representatives to exchange views and resolve problems on non-competitive matters related to the aerospace industry.

The membership is made up of over 300 major aerospace and defense companies and their suppliers, embodying every high-technology manufacturing segment of the U.S. aerospace and defense industry from commercial aviation and avionics, to manned and unmanned defense systems, to space technologies and satellite communications.

Ken Linden, Lintech Components President commented on this new membership by saying "Lintech's involvement with the AIA is a strategic move for us to connect with and support the industry that is vital to our aerospace and defense clients".
