

THE LINTECH ADVANTAGE

All independent distributors are NOT alike.

Having any of these issues? Consider Lintech as an alternative.

⊕ Difficulty sourcing obsolete and long-lead-time parts?

A combination of in-house inventory, long-term relationships with manufacturers and reputable suppliers, and procurement expertise enables Lintech Components to source hard-to-find electronic components and hardware that other independent distributors cannot. Lintech Components is a stocking distributor representing more than 200 manufacturers with over 60 commodities. If we do not have something onsite, our seasoned professionals can locate just about anything: from the most obscure connector to semiconductors discontinued decades ago.

⊕ Waiting too long for quotes?

There is nothing more frustrating than waiting days for something that can be as time sensitive as a quote. At Lintech we utilize a proprietary inventory management system to speed up the process—plus our account executives have the product knowledge to facilitate quick turnarounds.

⊕ Receiving counterfeit or otherwise substandard product?

Lintech Components is widely considered a leader in counterfeit mitigation. Our quality management system incorporates rigorous vendor selection, and basic and advanced authenticity inspection and testing by certified inspectors and engineers to our in-house Component Authenticity Protection Program or to leading industry and company standards, including AS6081 and AS6171.

⊕ Critical parts arriving later than promised?

Whether parts are needed for production or MRO, chances are you're on a tight schedule. Lintech Components makes on-time delivery our top priority, whether or not we have a component in stock or you need additional services such as tape and reel or kitting.

⊕ Receiving the wrong components?

Lintech Components holds ourselves to a higher standard in an industry that tolerates up to 5 percent in returns. We've averaged an RMA rate under 1% for as long as we've been tracking this data. These exceptionally low rates can be attributed to our account managers' product expertise, our rigorous incoming and outgoing inspection process, and our scrubbed authorized vendor list.

Boeing Performance Excellence Award
recipient every year since 2009:
Lintech consistently exceeds a
99.9% on-time delivery rate.

